

Buy A HOOSIER

Get the Valuable Ideas of the Hoosier Council of Kitchen Scientists

How is it possible, you may wonder, for Hoosier to offer you all these super-features at so low a price. The answer is simple. It is because their enormous production enables them to cut factory costs in many ways.

There are more Hoosiers sold than any other five makes of kitchen cabinets combined. Already over a million women have bought the Hoosier in preference to all others.

HOOSIER Kitchen Cabinet

The Hoosier is the greatest kitchen helper on earth.

The Porcelain top is as easily cleaned as a china plate. A top that will not rust, and is strictly hygienic.

It embodies the most valuable work-savers and short-cuts that are known. They are the result of years of study and thousands of experiments by the Hoosier Company, now aided by talented women who form the Hoosier Council of Kitchen Experts.

And don't forget that you get the ideas of Hoosier experts in no other cabinet. Their services or kitchen cabinet purposes are controlled by the makers of the Hoosier.

Come in and select your cabinet to-day. Let us show you Hoosier's vital part, its 40 exclusive features, its places for 400 articles all within arm's reach. Your cabinet is here. The prices range from $17.00 to $41.50—easy payments if you so desire.

BRITISH GATHERING WAR RELICS NOW

Great Variety of War Mementoes Being Collected to Be in National War Museum Eventually.

Behind the British lines in France, Oct. 24.—(Correspondence).—In a quiet old place some miles behind the battle line are housed many interesting souvenirs of the great war, curious relics from world famous battlefields and illustrations of phases of daily life in the trenches, German trophies for the most part. Many of these exhibits are destined in due course to form part of the national war museum. The old first corps flag carried by the heroic and ill-fated Cough at Ypres is one of the notable relics.

Here also one may see the carved oak table from the battle of Arras used by Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig at his headquarters throughout the battle of the Somme. There is the first corps headquarters flag which he carried in the Mons retreat, his first flag as commander of the First army. There are several other flags of great interest—of which one must not forget to mention the first Tanks' flag—the first Portuguese flag in the trenches, the first American flag to fly in France after the American declaration of war.

There are German flags, too, as for instance, a large one unearthed in the Hotel de Ville Peronne, another from Beaumont Hamel.

After flags, which are but symbols of our army, come captured guns. But there is only room here for the smaller engines of war, such as trench mortars, minewarfare and grenade throwers, with a few machine guns damaged in battle.

There is a great ungainly mine-warfare captured at Vimy by the Canadians. There are shown two German parachutes, souvenirs of a brilliant battle in the air and dozens of enemy rifles, inscribed with the names of villages in the Somme or Arras region where hand to hand conflicts were waged. German material is here in profusion, shells of every calibre, shell cases and basket carriers, flamewarfare, bombs, axes, knives, pistols, wire cutters, and a unique collection of trench clubs, including one with a flexible handle and a heavy steel head positively devilish in its ingenuity.

Scattered through this museum are life-size mannequins attired in enemy uniform. One affords a striking representation of a medieval warrior even though he is clad only in the steel armor and casque of A. D. 1917. Over his shoulders he carries a cross-bow which discharged grenades in the winter of 1914-15, while behind him is a British catapult which saw service at Neuve-Chapelle.

There are the German proclamations on the walls, German prints depicting our soldiers, enemy maps captured on the battlefields and sometimes stained with blood, German officers' note-books and sketch books. Nor can the realistic models of the battlefields—now no longer of direct military utility—fail to attract attention from the one of Neuve-Chapelle to the latest miniature. The collection is only a recent undertaking—when it comes to find a resting place in London. It will bring home, as thousands of pages of history books could not, the ferocity and the kindness, the brutality and poetry, the humor and tragedy and all those thousands little unremembered acts which made up for millions of Britons the daily life in the trenches and billets of France and Flanders.

GRANITEVILLE.

There will be a meeting at the church of St. John the Baptist, Westerville, Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock. Every man and woman interested in the church is requested to be present, as important business is to be discussed.

Miss Agnes Flood has returned to her home in Northfield, after passing several days with friends in Barre.

Harold Tierney of Hartford, Conn., is passing a vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Tierney, of South Main street.

The monthly meeting of the Bonacore football club will be held in the club pavilion Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

Dr. J. H. Spencer, an osteopath physician, who has been employed in the office of Dr. L. D. Martin for several months, has gone to Northfield to establish a practice.

Isaac Riddell, who has been passing a fortnight with friends in Barre, his former home, returned last night to Schenectady, N. Y., where he has secured employment.

Mrs. Laurie Miller, who has been passing a week in the city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brock of Washington street, returned this morning to her home in White River Junction.

One hundred and nine head of livestock to be sold at the Harry Martin farm, about one mile from Plainfield, on the main road to Marshfield, on Thursday of this week. A fine lot of stock, farming tools, etc., sold to settle estate. D. A. Perry, auctioneer.

Atty. William Wishart has been engaged to speak at a Liberty loan rally in Northfield this evening. Other speakers will include James B. Estee of Montpelier. Mr. Wishart did effective work in Barre last week by delivering four-minute appeals for subscriptions to the bond issue.

Mrs. Mary Nichols has completed plans for extensive repairs to the house at 6 Foster street which was badly damaged by fire Oct. 14. The ell part, where the fire centered, will have to be reconstructed entirely and damage caused by smoke and heat in the main building necessitates some repairs.

Further information concerning the injuries received by James McNeill, a former resident of Barre and employee of the American Express Co. here, indicates that he received a leg fracture while working on an automobile belonging to an electrical company by which he is employed in Bridgeport, Conn. None of the other employees was hurt. Mr. McNeill went to Bridgeport last summer and was joined a fortnight ago by his wife.

Alderman A. J. Loranger has received from his son, Private Edmund Loranger, a letter advising him that the detachment to which he belongs was out at sea when the message was written. The customary military restrictions as to giving names and locations were complied with in the letter, but Private Loranger, who enlisted from Barre at the outbreak of the war, testifies warmly to the excellent treatment which the men are receiving and speaks highly of the commissary department.

Beginning Nov. 1 the city's garbage equipment will be shelled for the winter, as the aldermanic health committee has arranged a clean-up campaign for the closing days of October and with the end of the month regular collections instituted last summer will cease until next spring. The garbage department has adhered rather closely to the detailed schedule prepared by the health committee and the service given has been highly esteemed by householders. It was originally planned to suspend the service during the winter months and to the end that a general clean-up may be made about town before winter begins, Oct. 29, 30 and 31 have been set apart for the work. The health committee and garbage collectors will co-operate. The collection service will be resumed by April 15, 1918.

You All Know the Story on All Kinds of Wool Goods

Here is a pointer that all should know. A little later you won't be able to buy the kind of a Sweater that you would like to have. We will not have an assortment, neither will our neighbors. This applies to such goods as the Hoagknit Sweaters. If the government could get them, they would take them, but they are not made. Prices on what we have will not be advanced.

Dr. Denton's Sleeping Garments

Cold night are coming on. Buy Dr. Denton's Sleeping Garments for all children under 12 years of age.

Dr. Denton's do not cost any more than other night clothing. They are warmer and will wear longer. We have sold them for years, with increased sales every year.

Children with Dr. Denton's Sleeping Garments cannot catch cold. They cannot kick out while you are sleeping. One garment will please you so well you will want more.

Dr. Denton's comes in two styles, c10, open crotch; c15, drop seat. Small sizes of c10 are 65c; small sizes of c15 are 75c, running up to $1.00 in c10, largest size. Dr. Denton's are better than those made of outing flannel; they are heavier and much warmer.

Are you using New Idea Patterns? If not, you are surely not getting the Pattern that saves you materials and gives you best styles. Quantities of waist and suit manufacturers use these Patterns. Would they do so if there was more style or a better fit in other kinds? Think it over. No Pattern over 15c each.

Corset Sale

We dislike as much as you do to hear this, that all kinds of Corsets after Nov. 1 will take another advance.

This means that $1.00 Corsets won't be less than $1.25, and other grades in the same proportion.

If you have a Corset want, better try to buy before that time. Buy this week.

We are already paying more, but the price won't go up without giving you a chance to get in on the old price.

There is one thing to consider, and that is this: Corsets have not advanced in price one-half as much as other goods using materials of these kinds.

A sewing meeting will be held at the hospital Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and a large attendance is looked for, as there is considerable sewing to be completed.

Mrs. Harry Kendall and daughter, Beverly, left this morning for Braintree, where the former was called by word that her father, A. M. Pratt, had fallen and was nearly helpless as a result.

The members of the Barre Merchants' association have been invited to attend a meeting of those who contributed to the cemetery superintendents' convention, the meeting to be held at the granite manufacturers' rooms to-night at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will hear the report of the finance committee and take whatever action is necessary.

Just a year ago any number of Barre women were thrown into a fever of excitement by reading an advertisement which offered a silk petticoat for 10 cents. Not unlike other women throughout the eastern states, many subscribed to the proposition, only to learn that 10-cent petticoats were mythical garments. Now many of those whose letters and enclosures reached Minneapolis after the petticoat office was closed are receiving from the dead letter office the hope-laden missives dispatched in the autumn of 1916.

R. G. Robinson of Academy street is passing a few days in Boston on business.

To-morrow morning at 9 o'clock Chief Gladding will begin the collection of the hospital bags. Be sure yours is filled and out.

Miss Mary Watson, who was lately employed in the office of F. W. Bancroft, is assisting in the office of the district board of exemption at the capital.

Ernest Marchetti, who is employed in the City Wine store, left to-day in company with Guy Vitagliano for Bangor, Me., where they are to remain for a visit of several days. The trip was made by automobile.

Barre and Montpelier auxiliaries are to serve a supper in the Worthen block hall this evening in honor of the Sons of Veterans of this section, who are to gather for their annual district meeting. Members of Major L. A. Abbott camp have completed plans for an interesting patriotic program.

A committee consisting of W. H. Duthie, J. N. Gail, C. M. Willey, F. E. Robinson and B. C. Ladd, which has charge of arrangements for the reception to Dr. L. R. Snowden of Peoria, Ill., a prominent Pythian, met last evening to consider plans for the reception and banquet, which are to be held on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 31.

Manager J. M. Nelson of the Barre Gas Co. is moving his household goods from 16 Academy street into an apartment recently completed in the house at the corner of Summer and West streets now owned by Dr. J. W. Stewart. The latter, having purchased the property from D. M. Miles, has divided the house into two apartments, while reserving rooms for his office.

City Engineer Frank O. Lee has been authorized to make an extended investigation of bridges in Barre with a view of ascertaining the maximum load which each can bear up with safety to pedestrians, teams and automobiles. The investigation is the outcome of a city council conference in which acquaintance was taken of the rapidly increasing use of heavy motor trucks for hauling granite. When the engineer has completed his findings, the data will be referred to the council along with recommendations. As soon as the bridge examinations are made, the council proposes to post each structure with a sign advising teamsters and chauffeurs as to the heaviest load to be permitted in transit over the bridge.

GOV. GRAHAM TO BE SPEAKER.

At State W. C. T. U. Convention in St. Albans.

Orleans, Oct. 24.—The forty-third annual convention of the Vermont Woman's Christian Temperance union opened at the Congregational church here this afternoon and will continue through Thursday and Friday. Among the speakers will be Gov. Horace F. Graham of Craftsbury, Mrs. Emma Howland of Boston, Rev. William Shaw of St. Johnsbury, Rev. R. A. Hamilton of this place and Mrs. C. E. Smith of Wells River.

This afternoon an executive meeting was held in the parlors of the church. A superintendents' conference took place at the same time. This evening addresses of welcome will be given and following a medal contest a reception will be held in the church parlors.

The opening of the convention proper will take place to-morrow morning. There will be addresses and reports, suffrage hour and an address by Mrs. C. E. Smith. In the evening Mr. Shaw will speak. Friday morning the election of officers will take place and after reports, Mr. Hamilton will give an address. Mrs. Howland and Governor Graham are the speakers scheduled for the closing session Friday evening.

Mrs. Minnie L. Pearson of this place is president of the state organization.

WILL MEET IN ST. ALBANS.

Woman's Home Missionary Society of Methodist Church.

St. Albans, Oct. 24.—The thirty-third annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Vermont Methodist conference will open in this city next Tuesday afternoon with a meeting of the executive board at 2:30 o'clock. The principal speaker of the meeting will be Mrs. C. A. Converse, national field secretary. She will speak at both evening sessions. A feature of the meeting next Tuesday evening will be singing by the Pythian Male quartet.

The convention will close with the Wednesday evening session. All the sessions will be held in the Universalist church, as the Methodist church is undergoing extensive repairs and improvements.

Congressmen Should Go Abroad.

It would have been a good thing if Congress had officially sent a large and representative commission to Europe, not only for the purpose of getting into touch with our allies on the political and economic questions connected with the war and its settlement, but to familiarize themselves in some degree with the military task that our soldiers are facing. This is a time when our rulers must "care for abroad," whether they are by habit inclined to do so or not. It is a time for our national legislators to keep their eyes and ears open to what is passing. The war is not a European war, though its chief scene is in Europe. It is just as much an American war as it is European. The direct and intimate view is needed by every American legislator as by every administrator. For this reason, it is a good thing that ten of our congressmen at least are to go to Europe, even "unofficially," to meet the parliamentary representatives of the allied countries. It would be a still better thing if the commission were larger and much more representative of the best ability and the active control of Congress than it is. In the list of representatives who have received passports for the trip we see the name of but one member from a New England state—that of Mr. Dale of Vermont. Without questioning the qualification of Mr. Dale in any way, we may nevertheless regret, in view of the prominent and early part taken by New Englanders in the war, that he is the sole representative of New England on this important errand, and that Vermont is the only state in this section which is supposed to be interested in the mastery of the military, political and economic conditions which the country has to face. Similarly, in the list of these congressmen who are to go abroad for this purpose, we see the name of but one southerner—that of Mr. Goodwin of Arkansas. If the delegation is to have but ten men, it is too small for the purpose, and its composition, so far as the names have been definitely and conclusively determined upon, does not suggest much chance for the effective education of the House on a good many subjects which it is desirable for it to know.

Let the congressmen go—as many of them as will. Let them learn what Americans are doing for America, as well as for the rest of the world, on the other side—or what, in some instances, they may not be doing. We are not likely to have any too much light or understanding on the character and the prosecution of this war.—Boston Transcript.
